

LOW PROFILE PROTECTOR
TACTICAL OPERATIONS COURSE
(LPPTO-C)

This course is designed for personnel destined for assignment to a security/protection element, members of a security/protection element or for an entire "newly formed" security/protection element. Primary focus of the training is towards the security and protection of personnel and infrastructure to include special events, schools, churches and businesses. Training will include marksmanship with the handgun/carbine-rifle/shotgun, as well as introductions to tactical equipment, room combat/CQB (TIER I), personnel handling, limited breaching techniques and security/protective operations planning. Training will also progress to the conduct of dry fire scenarios and TIER I live fire room combat/CQB.

The LPPTO-C is designed towards the instruction and training of the entry level security/protection elements and its members. This program is also beneficial to any security/protection element members who have attended some type of training in the past and are looking towards improving/refreshing their skills. Each attendee must be proficient. Attendees are civilian personnel operating or destined to operate in a protective security role as well as law enforcement, corrections or military personnel.

The LPPTO-C is performance oriented training conducted in a high risk environment. To successfully complete the course a student must progress through increasingly difficult training. Testing will involve performance oriented "hands-on" application of the skills learned. The LPPTO-C Program has numerous live fire exercises, physical challenges, classroom lectures/conferences and graded presentations.
